

—Panmunjom— POW Talks Are Facing Collapse

Indian Chairman Says End Is Near Unless
Red Tactics Change

PANMUNJOM (Saturday) (AP)—The Swiss representative today threatened to pull out of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission unless Communist persuaders cut short their gradually lengthening interviews with prisoners who don't want to return to Red domination.

PANMUNJOM (Saturday) (AP)—India's chairman of the Repatriation Commission declared Friday prolonged Communist interviews with war prisoners were useless and "inhuman" and may come to a sudden halt Monday unless Red tactics change.

"I am reluctant to order my guards to use the force required to hold these wretched men in front of the explainers," Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya told a news conference at which Communist correspondents also were present.

"It is inhuman. I can't stand any longer to go in the (explanation) tents and look at it myself. As long as India is responsible, I cannot permit this to grow."

Thimayya also disclosed that two Indian officers had been held hostage in the pro-Communist prisoner camp by 22 Americans and one Briton until the commission heard their demands for censorship of mail from home.

The captives, described as refusing repatriation by the Reds, protested that letters were intended to "intimidate, slander, coerce and bribe them" into returning home, Thimayya said. Unwelcome mail was ordered halted.

While the prisoner explanation outlook grew bleaker, Allied-Communist efforts to set the time and place for the Korean peace conference unexpectedly made some progress.

The Communists agreed to permit lower-level staff advisers, meeting in secret sessions Sunday, to take up the issues of time, place and composition of the peace conference.

The proposal was made by U. S. Envoy Arthur Dean, representing the 16 Allied belligerents in order to break a deadlock in top-level negotiations. The Reds reconsidered and accepted Dean's plan after first rejecting it.

The Communist explanation program was in recess Saturday and Sunday. The interviews were cancelled Friday when Chinese prisoners refused to leave their command as the result of Red maneuvering.

"We will try to start again Monday," said Thimayya, "but if they (prisoners) do not come out I am afraid the explanatory work will come to a halt."

Thimayya said the Reds had once agreed to interview at least one compound of 500 men a day, then questioned only half a compound Thursday.

H.S. Press Awards To Be Made Today; Fremont New Head

Approximately 650 students from 50 Nebraska high schools climaxed the first day of the Nebraska High School Press Association with a banquet and dance at the University of Nebraska Friday night.

New Association officers, all high school journalism advisers, were announced at the banquet. They are Barclay Wade of Fremont, Lincoln, vice president; Irene Auble of Scottsbluff, treasurer, and Florence Barta of Nebraska City, secretary.

R. Neal Coppel, city editor of the Lincoln Journal, spoke on the "Responsibilities of the Press." Mary Jane Thulin of Fremont High School served as toastmistress.

Five University of Nebraska sophomore journalism students were honored for high scholarship at the Friday morning session. Presented gold keys by the Lincoln Star and the Lincoln Journal were Mary Ann Hansen of Sioux City, Ia.; Marilyn Lee Mitchell of Omaha; Kathleen Nosky of North Platte; Cynthia Hendersen of Lincoln, and Phyllis Herschberger of Superior.

Awards Luncheon Saturday's activities will conclude with the annual awards luncheon. A trophy will be given to the outstanding yearbook of 1952-53 by the Grand Island Independent. Plaques will be awarded to three top high school papers by the Omaha World Herald.

Certificates of Award will be given to winners of the 14 competitive contests held Friday. Sigma Delta Chi and Theta Sigma Phi, professional journalism societies, sponsored the contests.

Gov. Robert Crosby was guest speaker at the Friday morning session. He said that freedom of the press "insures morality and honesty in government."

He said that he uses "freedom of the press as a tool" to keep himself completely true to his beliefs and ideals.

The governor explained that some politicians are forced oc-asionally to waver slightly in their beliefs, lest true honesty may possibly cause defeat to their party in future elections.

"But I feel that if the press is permitted to attend all governmental discussions and meetings—to report all the facts—politicians can not waver."

He said executive sessions were a device used by governmental officials to close meetings to the press "for the purpose of compromising" with their beliefs. He mentioned that the Nebraska Legislative committees held executive sessions after public hearings on legislative bills so as to prevent publicity on how committee members vote.

But he added that because of tradition, complete elimination of executive sessions is difficult to execute.

In the Friday afternoon session, the following clinics and panels were held:

Mental Standards Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army, Navy and Air Force Friday asked the Defense Department for permission to raise the mental standards for recruits.

The services are bound by mental standards set by the department and they say the present standards force them to take too many volunteers with low mentality—men frequently incapable of handling complicated weapons and machines.

For the same reason, the Army is also asking the Defense Department to recommend to Congress higher mental standards for men it must take through the draft.

The services made their requests at a meeting Friday with Dr. John A. Hannah, assistant secretary of defense for manpower. A defense official, who announced the meeting but asked not to be named, said the problem will go under study, but that it's impossible to say what may result.

Balky British, U.S. PWs Demand Censorship Of Mail From Home

PANMUNJOM (Saturday) (AP)—The strange spectacle of British and U.S. prisoners demanding and obtaining "censorship" of letters, magazines and newspapers from home was reported by the chairman of the Repatriation Commission.

Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya of India, the chairman, told a news conference two Indian officers were held hostage by Allied captives for four hours and 15 minutes in the north camp until the commission arrived and heard a long petition against "intimidation" by mail.

The Indians were released when Thimayya promised to screen future mail and to cut off the flow of publications.

The north camp is the compound where 22 Americans, one Briton and 332 South Koreans who the Reds say have rejected repatriation are held under Indian custody.

"Illegal" Operation
The petition signed by an 11-man committee—one American, one Briton and nine South Koreans—purported to represent the feelings of all the prisoners. Peiping radio, heard in Tokyo, broadcast its version of the incident and called it a protest against the "illegal" and "contemptible" operation of the American command to "coerce" prisoners.

The long, typewritten petition included such charges as:

1. The United Nations is conducting "explanations" in violation of the armistice agreement through the medium of postal and telegraph system. (Actually the U.N. command has not yet started personal interviews with the prisoners.)

2. The U.N. is trying to "intimidate, slander, coerce and bribe" the prisoners. (This echoes Communist Peiping propaganda broadcasts.)

3. The Indians are guilty of "a grave error" in allowing such material to pass through their hands and "have not censored this mail."

"Dirty Work"
"This is a shocking use of news media and school children to do their dirty work," the petition said. A spokesman for the U. N. Command said it "has no knowledge of what has been sent to the prisoners in the north camp through the U. S. mails . . . nor have we any knowledge of who has sent mail to the prisoners."

The Allied spokesman said the first batch of 279 pieces of mail was delivered Oct. 24 by an American postal officer to the Indians.

Since then mail deliveries have been routine. At the meeting with Thimayya, the prisoner committee opened some unopened mail with opened mail to show it had not been censored.

Thimayya held up one letter and read the name of the sender as "Mrs. Ernest N. Regan, of Weaverville, N. C."

Thimayya said the prisoner

Mrs. Reagan Asked 22 PWs 'Please Come Home'

WEAVERVILLE, N.C. (AP)—A mountain mother who sent two sons to war reported between 22 American prisoners of war who allegedly chose Communism, begging them to come home.

Told by newsmen that the 22 prisoners had protested against mail designed to "intimidate, slander, coerce and bribe them," Mrs. Ernest M. Reagan said:

"I just wrote a one-page letter to each one of the boys and asked them if they would please come home." The letters to the "lonely boys" in Korea were like those "I would have written my own son," she added.

"Oh, I was so careful what I wrote so I wouldn't even displease the Communists. I tried to thank each one for all they had done for us in the war and asked if they would please come home and make their relatives happy."

To Program

An active church worker, Mrs. Reagan said she was prompted to write the letters by a television program on which Gen. Mark Clark, former Far Eastern commander, urged Americans to encourage the Americans who had refused repatriation. She said she felt the 22 prisoners were "bewildered and afraid to come home . . . All I know is that from the bottom of my heart I was trying to do a good deed."

One of her sons was a Marine who went through some of the bitterest fighting in the Korean War. Another son fought in World War II.

She wrote her Marine son in Korea once a day and "other boys envied him," Mrs. Reagan said.

Balky British, U.S. PWs Demand Censorship Of Mail From Home

PANMUNJOM (Saturday) (AP)—The strange spectacle of British and U.S. prisoners demanding and obtaining "censorship" of letters, magazines and newspapers from home was reported by the chairman of the Repatriation Commission.

Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya of India, the chairman, told a news conference two Indian officers were held hostage by Allied captives for four hours and 15 minutes in the north camp until the commission arrived and heard a long petition against "intimidation" by mail.

The Indians were released when Thimayya promised to screen future mail and to cut off the flow of publications.

The north camp is the compound where 22 Americans, one Briton and 332 South Koreans who the Reds say have rejected repatriation are held under Indian custody.

'Illegal' Operation

The petition signed by an 11-man committee—one American, one Briton and nine South Koreans—purported to represent the feelings of all the prisoners.

Peiping radio, heard in Tokyo, broadcast its version of the incident and called it a protest against the "illegal" and "contemptible" operation of the American command to "coerce" prisoners.

The long, typewritten petition included such charges as:

1. The United Nations is conducting "explanations" in violation of the armistice agreement through the medium of postal and telegraph system. (Actually the U.N. command has not yet started personal interviews with the prisoners.)
2. The U.N. is trying to "intimidate, slander, coerce and bribe" the prisoners. (This echoed Communist Peiping propaganda broadcasts.)
3. The Indians are guilty of "grave error" in allowing such material to pass through their hands and "have not censored this mail."

'Dirty Work'

"This is a shocking use of news media and school children to do their dirty work," the petition said.

A spokesman for the U. N. Command said it "has no knowledge of what has been sent to the prisoners in the north camp through the U. S. mails . . . nor have we any knowledge of who has sent mail to the prisoners."

The Allied spokesman said the first batch of 279 pieces of mail was delivered Oct. 24 by an American postal officer to the Indians.

Since then mail deliveries have been routine.

At the meeting with Thimayya, the prisoner committee returned some unopened mail with opened mail to show it had not been censored.

Thimayya held up one letter and read the name of the sender as "Mrs. Ernest N. Regan, of Weaverville, N. C."

Thimayya said the prisoner

Mrs. Reagan Asked 22 PWs 'Please Come Home'

WEAVERVILLE, N.C. (AP)—A mountain mother who sent two sons to war reported between sobs Friday that she had written the 22 American prisoners of war who allegedly chose Communism, begging them to come home.

Told by newsmen that the 22 prisoners had protested against mail designed to "intimidate, slander, coerce and bribe them," Mrs. Ernest M. Reagan said:

"I just wrote a one-page letter to each one of the boys and asked them if they would please come home."

The letters to the "lonely boys" in Korea were like those "I would have written my own son," she added.

"Oh, I was so careful what I wrote so I wouldn't even displease the Communists. I tried to thank each one for all they had done for us in the war and asked if they would please come home and make their relatives happy."

To Program

An active church worker, Mrs. Reagan said she was prompted to write the letters by a television program on which Gen. Mark Clark, former Far Eastern commander, urged Americans to encourage the Americans who had refused repatriation.

She said she felt the 22 prisoners were "bewildered and afraid to come home . . . All I know is that from the bottom of my heart I was trying to do a good deed."

One of her sons was a Marine who went through some of the bitterest fighting in the Korean War. Another son fought in World War II.

She wrote her Marine son in Korea once a day and "other boys envied him," Mrs. Reagan said.

The trees are a part of a long-range program through which Sidney hopes to beautify its streets for the Yuletide season.

12 Omahans Take Out Stamps For Gambling

OMAHA (AP)—Twelve Omahans—the most since the federal tax on gambling was imposed by Congress in 1951—have taken out the $50 annual gambling stamps since July, records of the Nebraska Internal Revenue District revealed Friday.

Western Soil Conditions Slightly Better Than '52

Soil moisture conditions in the western two-thirds of Nebraska's wheat growing area are slightly better than a year ago, but below the average for the past several years, according to a survey by the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

Tests were made in 120 seeded winter wheat fields between Oct. 19 and 30, all taken to a depth of 48 inches. Seventy-one tests were in summer fallowed fields and 49 in fields that had been continuously cropped.

The average moisture penetration in all fields was 37.8 inches. Last year it was 36.5 inches.

Omahan Will Face Charge Of Conspiracy

BERLIN (AP)—An Omaha Army private is going to be placed on trial on charges of luring his comrades to join a foreign power.

It's the first time such a thing has happened during the U.S. Army's history in Europe.

The private is Robert D. Blevens, 29. The case against him is being prepared now and may be called for hearing before a general court the end of next week.

Six Charges

Blevens faces six charges: Two counts of desertion; jail break; conspiring with a German girl to induce American military personnel to desert to the East; violation of the Smith Act which forbids "affiliating" with any group, such as the Communists, which advocates the overthrow of the government of the United States.

The Army says it has evidence Blevens teamed with a German girl to talk other soldiers into living in the Russian zone where asylum is granted quickly as long as a soldier is willing to subject himself to propaganda against the West.

Clearwater Man Dies Of Injuries

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP)—Vernie Kimes, 71, Clearwater, injured when struck by a falling tree, died in a Norfolk hospital.

Kimes suffered fractures of his right leg, rib fractures and internal injuries when a tree, being cut down near his home fell on him.

Crop Condition Good

In the western areas the plants have stood well, developed a good secondary root system and have a healthy color. The soil is packed well around the crown and the crop will go into the winter in much better condition than a year ago. Then the top soil was very dry and the crop had not developed secondary roots.

In the eastern area there are some dry spots where the wheat emerged and died from lack of moisture, but these fields are comparatively few in relation to last year.

Height Below '52

This year the height of the wheat averaged 3.7 inches compared to 4.3 last year. The reason explained this unusual condition does not represent a drop in the crop standing because last year only a small portion of the crop was up when tests were made and this was in the west where a good growth had been made.

In general wheat that was planted on continuous cropped land that was plowed immediately following the harvest of the crop this year is in better condition than wheat planted on late plowed ground. The moisture saturation is much better in the early plowed fields.

In the area of Lancaster County and adjacent counties to the west and south the second foot of soil is generally dry.

Meet Star Carrier Bob Bernard

Residents of Holmesville, Neb., are now enjoying carrier service that has been missing from this town for a good many years, thanks to the swell job Robert (Bob) Bernard has been doing since starting the Lincoln Star route a few months ago with nothing but ambition and a will to make a business for himself. He has about half the town taking the Star and Bob Bernard says he is going to keep right after it until the other half takes it.

Bob, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bernard, is in the 7th grade at Riverview Consolidated School of Holmesville. He does well in all his school subjects but favors art and social studies.

Bob has a hobby of writing to big name sportsmen. He recently received a very nice letter from Jackie Robinson. Bob also spends part of his time in building model airplanes.

In the contest just completed, Bob won the top award of a wrist watch. At the present he is saving all the profits from his route. With the first $5 that he made from his route, he bought a revised edition of the Holy Bible.

Some day, Bob would like to have his own business. He feels the training he is now getting from his paper route will come mighty handy in his efforts to fulfill his ambition.

Court Upholds Discontinuance Of Norfolk Passenger Trains

Towns along the North Western Railroad's line between Omaha and Norfolk Friday lost their fight to keep passenger trains 21 and 22.

The Supreme Court said that the need for the service provided by these trains has been absorbed by other adequate methods of transportation.

"The little use of the passenger service offered by Trains 21 and 22 as shown by the record affords most convincing proof of that fact," the court said.

"The record does show the discontinuance of these two trains will cause some inconvenience to a few persons and business," the opinion continued.

But the court added "that is not a criterion to be considered, however, when other forms of transportation are available and preferred."

"The record before us conclusively shows that need does not exist for the continued operation of these two trains for the reason

The appellants were Fremont, Norfolk, Wisner, Stanton, Pilger, Beemer, West Point, Scribner, Hooper, Arlington, Bennington, Washington and Irvington.

What's In A Name?

The election of a senator in a single state to take a place in the United States Senate may decide control of that body in the congressional elections of 1954.

That is how close it is.

Backstage the leaders of both major parties are giving a lot of attention to Ohio, where the vacancy created by the death of the late Bob Taft injects a new atmosphere of uncertainty. Bob Taft's death not only deprived Mr. Eisenhower of his most dependable, useful adviser but it has also scrambled Ohio politics more than the public recognizes. The seat held by the late Sen. Taft no longer can be counted as certain for the Republicans.

It is anticipated that Ohio's popular Democratic governor Frank Lausche, may run for the Senate in 1954. Lausche has strength among the voters of Ohio that might have tested even the late Sen. Taft's popularity. Long a favorite, Gov. Lausche carried Ohio by 425,000 while Gen. Eisenhower in the same election was winning the state by a 500,000-vote margin. That means that approximately a million Ohio voters crossed party lines to express themselves upon the choice of a President and the choice of a governor.

Quietly back of the scenes there has been activity by the Republicans to draft Robert A. Taft Jr. as the party's candidate next year. Not only is the son highly regarded for his own ability, but it is felt by party leadership that the name of "Taft" is worth a good many votes at the polls in Ohio. For the time being, young Taft is keeping his own counsel, as well he should. Gov. Lausche's opponent last fall was Charles Taft, a brother of the late senator.

Backing For Rhee

Very few Americans in civilian life, we are quite sure, feel competent to express any judgment in the progress of truce negotiations in Korea.

There is a mounting widespread feeling that the truce talks entered into so hopefully are not going as well as might be desired, seemingly dragging interminably, but beyond this reservation in many minds, the public has hesitated to express openly dissatisfaction with the slowness of negotiations. It will note with regret particularly what Gen. James A. Van Fleet had to say at a press conference in Chicago. He was speaking in private capacity. At the same time, the opinion he expressed relative to the Korean truce will carry the weight accorded to the commander of United Nations forces during some of the very toughest of fighting in Korea.

Gen. Van Fleet said Thursday that the United Nations will not get anywhere with the Communists at Panmunjom. The Reds are stalling in the current peace negotiations, he added. "You can't do business with gangsters. Nevertheless we should endeavor to try. If Rhee decides for a good reason to fight on alone, we should back him. And if the enemy resumes its aggression, we should throw our full strength against him. That includes the atomic bomb and the hydrogen bomb."

And that envisions, of course, an all-out major war to be fought thousands of miles from home. It would represent, it appears, a basic change in American foreign policy in shifting from a war of containment to one of decision, involving not only North Korea but presumably the masses of Red China.

Gen. Van Fleet's proposal, which is by no means new, voicing as it does a view expressed by some of the members of Congress at different times, does serve to focus attention to the delicacy of the decisions yet to be reached with respect to the tormented Orient.

Who's Confused?

The administration is fretting over a public that is confusing things. We ask, just whose confusion is it? An administration spokesman opens the door and announces that Russia now knows enough about the H-bomb to blow us all into infinity. He closes his door and another one opens and a voice says, "Pay no attention to him. The Russian H-bomb is mostly bluff." Then Secretary Benson abolishes regional conservation offices for better efficiency. The Postal Department establishes regional offices for better efficiency. The Interior Department says it is going to help public power by knocking it spraddle-legged. The President frowns on the TVA as "creeping Socialism" and in the same breath dispatches Eric Johnston to the Near East to try to sell the TVA idea there. The public is riding a whirligig.

Of Men And Things

Virtually unchecked for 40 years in America, the drift of population has been from the farm to the city—rapidly growing metropolitan centers—or smaller urban centers. This continuing development has left city government in many instances with a lot of unfinished planning on its hands—many formidable tasks to be undertaken and completed.

The hustling, bustling city of Omaha and six other communities downstream situated on the banks of the Missouri River have found that they received warning from Dr. A. E. Rogers, acting Nebraska health director, that they must stop dumping raw sewage into the stream. All seven, Omaha included, have been given until June 30, 1954, to draft plans terminating pollution of the waters of the Missouri. We assume there will be no argument over the threat to sanitation and health as a result of the continuing practice of dumping raw sewage into the Missouri, a source of domestic water supply for many communities. The wonder is that it has continued for so many years. Not so much a matter of wonder, however, when the rise of urban America is given thought. There has been so little of city planning until recent years. Most cities in this country—there are exceptions—like Topsy, simply "just grew." In some particulars, some were very fortunate in what took place during the early years of rapid growth. Others were not. They found themselves with narrow, inadequate streets and other handicaps. But almost without exception, there are few if any American cities where all the present-day needs were anticipated far in advance of the time they became pressing.

Omaha has not only a sewage problem but also one of sewer extension and reconstruction downtown which it is estimated will cost an approximate $15 million in a 10-year period. It has a mounting problem of handling traffic. Lincoln has an acute problem of storm sewer extension if at undetermined times it is to avoid flooding in low-lying sections of the city. Lincoln awakens to a dozen needs for which there is no money in sight. Lincoln faces a major expansion of its water plant and is embarking upon a plan to meet those needs until 1975 at a cost of $8.5 million.

There is so much to be done in this country. The talk nowadays goes to possible unemployment and to a slackening of business and industry. Perhaps. But nevertheless in the national sense and even more on the local level—in the field of city and state governments—there is so much to be done. There are highways to be constructed, schools to be built, other public improvements to be undertaken. There is a backlog of work in this country of fantastic dimensions. Until recent years we were concerned with the burdens of American settlement. Now a mature nation will be much more occupied with the responsibilities which mature settlement inevitably imposes. This program of sewage disposal which confronts seven Nebraska cities bordering on the Missouri River is an excellent example. Actually four-fifths of Omaha's raw sewage has been and is being dumped into the stream, a practice adopted many years ago. Now a metropolitan city, impressive in its strength, a community just short of a quarter of a million people, must set out upon the task of developing a program of acceptable sewage disposal. And it will cost the people of Omaha a hunk of money.

It is our habit, the habit of most of us, to overlook, to ignore, or to neglect government closest to us. We can see the faults at a distance—the mistakes Washington makes day by day—but we close our eyes to the steps we fail to take here at home.

Factors Plus GOP Slip Figure In Demo Victory

NEW YORK—There were two factors behind the Democratic election sweep in New York and New Jersey this week. One was the national drop in GOP-Eisenhower popularity. The other was pure accident. Here is how the accidents took place in New York and New Jersey:

ACCIDENT NO. 1—In New Jersey a clean-cut and highly revered Republican congressman, Clifford Case, wanted to run for governor. But when he went down to the White House, he could get neither White House nor top leader Republican blessing. Case had always been elected with strong Democratic-labor backing, could have carried New Jersey easily. But he wanted to run on a moderate, coalition platform, also wanted to attack McCarthyism.

Down at the White House they discouraged this. McCarthy, Case was told, would be expected to help various Republican candidates win in the 1954 election. He must not be attacked. Other GOP leaders in New Jersey didn't want a governor who had strong Democratic support. So Case, fed up with his own leaders, resigned from Congress to join the Ford Foundation. Now the GOP has lost not only the governorship but Case's own district in Congress. Had White House advisers been wiser, they could have had both.

ACCIDENT NO. 2—In New York the Democratic party accidentally experienced an internal blood-bath. For some years the Democratic party in New York had been dying on the vine. It had coasted along on Roosevelt popularity. Its leaders were old, inactive, getting reactionary. There was bitterness between the old Farley wing which had bolted FDR and the New Dealers partially led by young FDR. Nobody expected the Democrats to win this year.

Then, accidentally, Mayor Impelleritti got into a dog fight with Bob Wagner Jr., son of the late great senator who authored the old-age pension and labor legislation of New Deal days. This shook the Democratic party to its roots, forced a house-cleaning of old guard leaders, after which Charles Buckley, who stepped into the shoes of the late boss Ed Flynn of the Bronx, began building from the bottom.

Under the watchful eye of Sen. Kefauver's crime committee, Carmine De Sapio, head of Tammany, began cleaning out the mobsters. Three reactionary Democratic leaders from Brooklyn, Staten Island and Long Island, Sutherland, Roe, and Sullivan—sometimes called the three palookas—were also pushed into right field.

Thanks to this blood-bath, there emerged a new streamlined Democratic organization which will probably elect the next governor of New York—either FDR Jr., or Averell Harriman—and is certain to send a liberal, New Deal delegation to the next Democratic convention.

ACCIDENT NO. 3—There was one other accident in both New York and New Jersey—revolving around a convict in Sing Sing prison. It enabled the Democrats to show the voters that the bloom "clean up corruption" broom, which swept like into office, had been dropped by the Republicans. The Democrats picked up the broom.

In New York, some of the top Republican leaders closest to Tom

Dewey, turned up as secret owners of race-track stock. Certain Democrats were mixed up in it too, but not men close to a governor who was elected as a crime-buster, such as Russell Sprague, a Dewey righthand man and Republican national committeeman.

In addition to tremendous pay-offs to labor racketeers at the race tracks, it also developed that acting Lt. Gov. Arthur Wicks had been a caller upon convicted labor-racketeer Joey Fay, a man sent to Sing Sing for a maximum 15 years for one of the worst shakedowns in New York history.

The Joey Fay scandal became contagious. It jumped the Hudson River and spread to New Jersey. There it developed that Paul Troast, a contractor selected as GOP candidate for governor instead of liberal Congressman Clifford Case, had written a glowing letter to Gov. Dewey asking that Fay be released from jail.

Though efforts were made to hush it up, this column also revealed that Fay, while still in jail, remained president of the International Excavating Corporation which got a subcontract for building the New Jersey turnpike. Candidate Troast was head of the New Jersey turnpike authority.

On top of this, it developed that Eugene Mori, owner of the Garden State race track at Camden, N. J., and the Tanforan race track in California, sold land to the New Jersey turnpike for $6,000 an acre which he purchased three years before for $322 an acre. And Troast was head of the turnpike.

The Tanforan race track, incidentally, was the one this column exposed for having secured building materials illegally after the war through the wire-pulling of Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan. For the Tanforan officials in California went to jail, and I won the undying enmity of Harry Vaughan and the unfriendly glances at another high-placed Harry in the White House.

Meanwhile the Troast revelations in New Jersey were not helped by hesitation on the part of the new incumbent of the White House. At first let it be known the "east" was going to New Jersey. He would play no part in Jersey politics. This looked like a slap, at Candidate Troast. But the White House called more attention to the slight by saying it wasn't meant as a slap at all.

ACCIDENT NO. 4—occurred a long time ago, so long ago that Tom Dewey probably doesn't remember it. But in 1944 he made the mistake of asking that Warren Moscow, then covering Albany for the New York Times, be transferred. He didn't like Moscow. The request came to N.Y. Times Publisher Arthur Sulzberger through Republican Industrialist Roger Straus, and at first Sulzberger was inclined to honor it.

In the end Moscow was not transferred. But his disregard for Dewey didn't diminish. And later, leaving precarious newspapering, he entered New York politics, became public works commissioner for Manhattan, got acquainted with young Bob Wagner, wrote his speeches, managed his primary campaign, was the biggest backstage brain-truster in this week's climactic election of the new mayor of New York.

In Step With The Sower

While political leaders seeking additional power for themselves prate about the leadership and virtues of the political bicameral legislatures, the results in states having such government do not bear out their mouthings. The Sower is formed by Sen. Arthur Carmody of Trenton.

Arch Donovan

The Trenton wheat rancher has a love for and knowledge of Nebraska. A deep student of the history of the state and personal knowledge of every nook and cranny from the Missouri to the Wildcat Hills from years of travel, he has been a leader in the Legislature because he could realize how bills would affect every section.

For the past two sessions, Sen. Carmody has been the tight-fisted banker to whom state agencies had to go and prove need for every dollar they asked for operations. He was chairman of the budget committee and not only watched appropriations but set up machinery to watch how state dollars were spent. "The enclosed clipping indicates that Colorado's two-party and two-house system cannot compare with Nebraska when it comes to state institutions," the senator wrote the Sower enclosing an editorial clipping from a Colorado newspaper.

"Colorado's failure to make adequate provision for care and training of mental defectives is shameful," the editorial said. "Patchwork has been piled upon patchwork in trying to bring order out of chaos. Botched up laws have abetted the development of this disgraceful situation."

Many states report that the politically minded administrations consider first where the party votes are garnered in operating state business. Unfortunately in institutions are not eligible to vote and thus share only in the levellings after the needs of the politically powerful get attention.

Higher Ground

I'm pressing on the upward way,
New heights I'm gaining every day;
Still praying as I onward bound,
"Lord, plant my feet on higher ground."

My heart has no desire to stay

My prayer, my aim is higher ground.

I want to live above the world,
Tho' Satan's darts at me are hurled;
For faith has caught the joyful sound,
The song of saints on higher ground.

I want to scale the utmost height,
And catch a gleam of glory bright;
But still I'll pray till heaven I've found,
"Lord, lead me on to higher ground."

Lord, lift me up and let me stand,
By faith, on heaven's table-land,

By HORACE B. POWELL

About the time the 19th century was going into its final quarter, a 17-year-old Iowa lad—Charles H. Gabriel—was traveling about the Middle West conducting singing classes.

A few years later he was writing tunes, and good ones, for the gospel songs which were being sung in the evangelistic crusades of the day. Now and then, he would write some hymn verses of his own and set them to music. It was on one such occasion that he turned out words and tune for his famous "Glory Song" whose popularity swept the world early in the 20th century and which, it is said, was published more than 20,000,000 times and in more than 20 languages and dialects. It was the music of "The Glory Song" that carried the song to the distant religious outposts of the world and which gave the song its title. Another very popular Gabriel tune was composed for "Higher Ground," the hymn which appears above. The words of this song were written by a New Jersey Methodist minister, the Rev. Johnson Oatman Jr. It, too, had its great day in American revivals.

Last Whig President

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The Whig party in 1848 was bankrupt on its record of supporting protection, national bank, and non-expansion. It had defamed to infamy James K. Polk, one of the most successful Presidents who has ever served his country. Without a platform, the Whig bosses elected Gen. Zachary Taylor to the White House. Taylor had no program. He could not lead; he could only command. The veteran parliamentarian, Henry Clay, came from his seclusion to lead the wandering children out of the wilderness. He proposed the Omnibus Bill of 1850 to dispose of all the problems of the day. He could not pass it and went away ill to the seashore. The Democrats, chiefly under the initiative of Stephen Douglas, broke up the bill and passed its several parts after President Taylor's funeral. That was the last Whig President. Whig adherents spent their expiring days claiming credit for the compromise of 1850.

Purchasing Power

Hastings, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Comes now Sen. Griswold and suggests that Uncle Sam enter the market and buy a few million head of cattle in an endeavor to boost the cattle market. Just what Sam would do with the cattle he hasn't explained. But the senator would have rung the bell had he declared a direct route to our meat trouble. There are 10 million old folks on relief rolls without purchasing power to buy a good meat roast once a week. Give them a purchasing power so they can have meat on their tables three times a week—two pounds at least—a year, or over two million head of average beefs. Enlarge the scope by bringing in the social security group, with their average payments now wholly insufficient to meet their appetite for meat, and another two million head of beefs will find a consuming market right here at home. We have the consuming power in this country to absorb most of our surplus, but we lack the power to purchase. If we create wealth as a nation via production of war goods and then destroy the production, why cannot we create wealth by the employment of the same amount of taxes to feed our people as we expend in carrying on warfare? And which is the most sensible and humanitarian?

What's In A Name?

The election of a senator in a single state to take a place in the United States Senate may decide control of that body in the congressional elections of 1954.

That is how close it is. Backstage the leaders of both major parties are giving a lot of attention to Ohio, where the vacancy created by the death of the late Bob Taft injects a new atmosphere of uncertainty. Bob Taft's death not only deprived Mr. Eisenhower of his most dependable, useful adviser but it has also scrambled Ohio politics much more than the public recognizes. The seat held by the late Sen. Taft no longer can be counted as certain for the Republicans.

It is anticipated that Ohio's popular Democratic governor Frank Lausche, may run for the Senate in 1954. Lausche has strength among the voters of Ohio that might have tested even the late Sen. Taft's popularity. Long a favorite, Gov. Lausche carried Ohio by 425,000 while Gen. Eisenhower in the same election was winning the state by a 500,000-vote margin. That means that approximately a million Ohio voters crossed party lines to express themselves upon the choice of a President and the choice of a governor.

Quietly back of the scenes there has been activity by the Republicans to draft Robert A. Taft Jr. as the party's candidate next year. Not only is the son highly regarded for his own ability, but it is felt by party leadership that the name of "Taft" is worth a good many votes at the polls in Ohio. For the time being, young Taft is keeping his own counsel, as well he should. Gov. Lausche's opponent last fall was Charles Taft, a brother of the late senator.

Backing For Rhee

Very few Americans in civilian life, we are quite sure, feel competent to express any judgment in the progress of truce negotiations in Korea.

There is a mounting widespread feeling that the truce talks entered into so hopefully are not going as well as might be desired, seemingly dragging interminably, but beyond this reservation in many minds, the public has hesitated to express openly dissatisfaction with the slowness of negotiations. It will note with regret particularly what Gen. James A. Van Fleet had to say at a press conference in Chicago. He was speaking in private capacity. At the same time, the opinion he expressed relative to the Korean truce will carry the weight accorded to the commander of United Nations forces during some of the very toughest of fighting in Korea.

Gen. Van Fleet said Thursday that the United Nations will not get anywhere with the Communists at Panmunjon. The Reds are stalling in the current peace negotiations, he added. "You can't do business with gangsters. Nevertheless we should endeavor to try. If Rhee decides for a good reason to fight on alone, we should back him. And if the enemy resumes its aggression, we should throw our full strength against him. That includes the atomic bomb and the hydrogen bomb." And that envisions, of course, an all-out major war to be fought thousands of miles from home. It would represent, it appears, a basic change in American foreign policy in shifting from a war of containment to one of decision, involving not only North Korea but presumably the masses of Red China.

Gen. Van Fleet's proposal, which is by no means new, voicing as it does a view expressed by some of the members of Congress at different times, does serve to focus attention to the delicacy of the decisions yet to be reached with respect to the tormented Orient.

Who's Confused?

The administration is fretting over a public that is confusing things. We ask, just whose confusion is it? An administration spokesman opens the door and announces that Russia now knows enough about the H-bomb to blow us all into infinity. He closes his door and another one opens and a voice says, "Pay no attention to him. The Russian H-bomb is mostly bluff." Then Secretary Benson abolishes regional conservation offices for better efficiency. The Postal Department establishes regional offices for better efficiency. The Interior Department says it is going to help public power by knocking it spraddle-legged. The President frowns on the TVA as "creeping Socialism" and in the same breath dispatches Eric Johnston to the Near East to try to sell the TVA idea there. The public is riding a whirligig.

Ike A Prophet?

It now begins to appear that President Eisenhower was a little out of time when he referred to Secretary Ezra Benson as a dedicated man, getting prophecy confused with statement of current fact. Knowing America's preference for dedicating things that belong to history, we will say that the way Benson is going, he will soon be eligible.

Editorial Of The Day

Inches From Poverty

From The Western Nebraska Observer
Mr. Farmer, how far are you from poverty?

What a silly question to ask, you snort. You own your own farm, have a good bank account, a nice home and new car. You aren't even close to being a pauper.

But would you feel so secure if you knew you were only 18 inches from desolation? Black topsoil is thin in Kimball county. In many places it isn't even a foot and a half thick. Already there are other places where it has vanished altogether. Kimball county is one of the best wheat-raising counties in the state, but when that topsoil is gone, what will we have? You can't raise wheat on rocks.

Strip off 18 inches of the county's soil and we would have only a desert. How much could a farmer borrow on his crop if he had ground like that? How long would his money in the bank last? How much could he count on getting if he had to sell his land?

Already much of the valuable topsoil in this county has been lost through wind and water erosion. How much more can we afford to lose?

The Kimball County Soil Conservation District has made a start in stopping the waste of land. Marked on a map of Kimball County the conservation projects are only scattered spots. They aren't necessarily placed where they are needed most. They happen to be located where farmers became aware of their need and did something about it.

Would any farmer in this country who has put in terraces, erosion control dams, grassed waterways or any other conservation projects sell the results for the money he has in it? Every one will tell you he only wished he had done it sooner.

Our land is losing the bloom of its youth. Already it is needing cosmetics in the form of fertilizers to keep up its production. More and more are going to be needed to hide the wrinkles and blemishes that grow with age. Beauty is only skin deep they say. In Kimball County, prosperity is only plow deep. We can't afford to court disaster.

Factors Plus GOP Slip Figure In Demo Victory

NEW YORK—There were two factors behind the Democratic election sweep in New York and New Jersey this week. One was the national drop in GOP-Eisenhower popularity. The other was pure accident. Here is how the accidents took place in New York and New Jersey:

ACCIDENT NO. 1—In New Jersey a clean-cut and highly revered Republican congressman, Clifford Case wanted to run for governor. But when he went down to the White House, he could get neither White House nor top leader Republican blessing. Case had always been elected with strong Democratic-Jabor backing, could have carried New Jersey easily. But he wanted to run on a moderate, coalition platform, also wanted to attack McCarthyism.

Down at the White House they discouraged this. McCarthy, Case was told, would be needed to help various Republican candidates win in the 1954 election. He must not be attacked. Other GOP leaders in New Jersey didn't want a governor who had strong Democratic support. So Case, fed up with his own leaders, resigned from Congress to join the Ford Foundation. Now the GOP has lost not only the governorship but Case's own district in Congress. Had White House advisers been wiser, they could have had both.

ACCIDENT NO. 2—In New York the Democratic party accidentally experienced an internal blood-bath. For some years the Democratic party in New York had been dying on the vine. It had coasted along on Roosevelt popularity. Its leaders were old, inactive, getting reactionary. There was bitterness between the old Farley wing which had bolted FDR and the New Dealers partially led by young FDR. Nobody expected the Democrats to win this year.

Then, accidentally, Mayor Impellitteri got into a dog fight with Bob Wagner Jr., son of the late great senator who authored the old-age pension and labor legislation of New Deal days. This shook the Democratic party to its roots, forced a house-cleaning of old guard leaders, after which Charles Buckley, who stepped into the shoes of the late boss Ed Flynn of the Bronx, began building from the bottom.

Under the watchful eye of Sen. Kefauver's crime committee, Carmine De Sapio, head of Tammany, began cleaning out the mobsters. Three reactionary Democratic leaders from Brooklyn, Staten Island and Long Island, Sutherland, Roe, and Sullivan—sometimes called the three palookas—were also pushed into right field.

Thanks to this blood-bath, there emerged a new streamlined Democratic organization which will probably elect the next governor of New York—either FDR Jr. or Averell Harriman—and is certain to send a liberal, New Deal delegation to the next Democratic convention.

ACCIDENT NO. 3—There was one other accident in both New York and New Jersey—revolving around a convict in Sing Sing prison. It enabled the Democrats to show the voters that the giant "clean up corruption" broom, which swept Ike into office, had been dropped by the Republicans. The Democrats picked up the broom.

Dewey, turned up as secret owners of race-track stock. Certain Democrats were mixed up in it too, but not men close to a governor who was elected as a crime-buster, such as Russell Sprague, a Dewey righthand man and Republican national committeeman.

In addition to tremendous pay-offs to labor racketeers at the race tracks, it also developed that acting Lt. Gov. Arthur Wicks had been a caller upon convicted labor-racketeer Joey Fay, a man sent to Sing Sing for a maximum 15 years for one of the worst shakedowns in New York history.

The Joey Fay scandal became contagious. It jumped the Hudson River and spread to New Jersey. There it developed that Paul Troast, a contractor selected as GOP candidate for governor instead of liberal Congressman Clifford Case, had written a glowing letter to Gov. Dewey asking that Fay be released from jail.

Though efforts were made to hush it up, this column also revealed that Fay, while still in jail, remained president of the International Excavating Corporation which got a subcontract for building the New Jersey turnpike. Candidate Troast was head of the New Jersey turnpike authority.

On top of this, it developed that Eugene Mori, owner of the Garden State race track at Camden, N. J., and of the Tanforan race track in California, sold land to the New Jersey turnpike for $6,000 an acre which he purchased three years before for $322 an acre. And Troast was head of the turnpike.

The Tanforan race track, incidentally, was the one this column exposed for having secured building materials illegally after the war through the wire-pulling of Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan. For this, Tanforan officials in California were sent to jail and I won the undying enmity of Harry Vaughan and the unfriendly glances at another high-placed Harry in the White House.

Meanwhile the Troast revelation in New Jersey were not helped by hesitation on the part of the new incumbent of the White House. At first Ike let it be known he wasn't going to enter New Jersey. He would play no part in Jersey politics. This looked like a slap, at Candidate Troast. But the White House called more attention to the slight by saying it wasn't meant as a slap at all.

ACCIDENT NO. 4—occurred a long time ago, so long ago that Tom Dewey probably doesn't remember it. But in 1944 he made the mistake of asking that Warren Moscow, then covering Albany for the New York Times, be transferred. He didn't like Moscow. The request came to N.Y. He could not lead; he could only command. The veteran parliamentarian, Henry Clay, came from his seclusion to lead the wandering children out of the wilderness. He proposed the Omnibus Bill of 1850 to dispose of all the problems of the day. He could not pass it and went away ill to the seashore. The Democrats, chiefly under the initiative of Stephen Douglas, broke up the bill and passed its several parts after President Taylor's funeral. That was the last Whig President. Whig adherents spent their expiring days claiming credit for the compromise of 1850.

Purchasing Power

Hastings, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Comes now Sen. Griswold and suggests that Uncle Sam enter the market and buy a few million head of cattle in an endeavor to boost the cattle market. Just what Sam would do with the cattle he hasn't explained. But the senator could have rung the bell had he declared a direct route to our meat trouble.

There are 10 million odd folks on relief rolls without purchasing power to buy a good meat roast once a week. Give them a purchasing power so they can have meat on their tables three times a week—two pounds, at least—and there go over a billion pounds a year, or over two million head of average beefs. Enlarge the scope by bringing in the social security group, with their average payments now wholly insufficient to meet their appetite for meat, and another two million head of beefs will find a consuming market right here at home. We have the consuming power in this country to absorb most of our surpluses, but we lack the power to purchase. If we create wealth as a nation via production of war goods and then destroy the production, why cannot we create wealth by the employment of the same amount of taxes to feed our people as we expend in carrying on warfare? And which is the most sensible and humanitarian?

Editors Welcome Ike's Revamped Policy On U.S. Secret Data

28 Federal Agencies Stripped Of Power To Classify Information

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower revamped the government's policy on secret data Friday with an order asserting the public's right to "a maximum amount of information in keeping with security."

Repealing a controversial set of regulations former President Truman issued two years ago, the new order goes into effect Dec. 15.

It strips 28 federal agencies of authority to "classify" information—that is, withhold it from the public on security grounds. It limits this power to the chief administrative officers alone in 17 other agencies.

It throws out the "restricted" category for classifying government data, leaving only "Top Secret," "Secret" and "Confidential."

It also provides a system for receiving complaints from newsmen and others outside the government, and sets up machinery for constant review of the whole program.

Vigilance Warned

At the 20th annual convention of the Associated Press Managing Editors Assn. in Chicago, editors from all parts of the country welcomed the changes, but some warned that vigilance will be required to see that the spirit of the executive order is carried out. The association was one of several editorial groups which demanded a freer flow of information.

Discussing the changes before the association, Attorney General Brownell criticized the old Truman order as "vague" among other things.

"The old order was repressive and applied the military formula to a lot of things entirely outside the scope of national defense," he told reporters earlier. Brownell also said it smacked of "dictatorship" and could be used by government officials to cover up their mistakes.

Truman withheld comment on the new order, saying he didn't know enough about its details. Regarding his own directive, he added:

"It was imposed during the Korean conflict purely for security reasons and nothing else. And in my opinion that is what it accomplished."

The Attorney General, in his Chicago remarks, advised the press, radio and television to continue fighting against any unnecessary secrecy surrounding government operations. "Seek out and oppose any operation of government which places a barrier in the way of free flow of information," he urged.

An another censorship front in Washington, Sen. Smathers (D-Fla.) attacked the Army for what he called its "intolerable interference" with the efforts of reporters to report the news from Korea.

Acting on information contained in AP Correspondent John Randolph's dispatches from Korea, Smathers wrote Secretary of Defense Wilson that there should be an immediate crackdown on "putrefying" news censorship by the military. "Some eager beaver censors are more officious than efficient," the senator said. There was no immediate comment from the Pentagon.

Bar Group Urges Wage Law Change

The Nebraska State Bar Association committee on legislation has recommended a change in the law dealing with wages owed a deceased employee.

As it stands now, the law requires that any due wages of a deceased person must be paid to the administrator of the estate, who, if it happens to be the surviving dependent, must collect through the probate court.

The committee proposes the law be changed to permit representatives to pay due wages up to $200 direct to the surviving dependent.

It was further recommended that the new legislative committee be named at the state convention made a study of the desirability of the association employing a paid representative to work with the committee on all matters before the Legislature and provide a legislative reporting service for members of the bar.

BELLEVEUE, Neb. (AP)—Reinforcements joined in the fight to whip the Fontenelle Forest fire Friday afternoon when wind whipped the blaze to menacing proportions.

Seven Offutt Air Force Base firemen, who volunteered in response to a plea for help, sent out a call for aid as the fire, fanned by a 35-mile an hour wind, threatened to get away from them.

The plea brought 25 additional Offutt Air Force Base volunteers to the scene. An effort was being made to get equipment into the roadless preserve.

That Button-Up-Your-Overcoat Weather Is Here

WE REGRET it, but we must make the shuddering admission that the button-up-your-overcoat time is here—and we don't need to read all of the chummy little items the weather man offers in his forecasts to realize it. But then, we console ourselves with the thought that April is only five months away, and since time goes faster than a whisper in Washington—spring will be here before we know it.

SOMEHOW, though, mild weather and Operation Christmas don't go hand in hand—So doubtless Mrs. Stanley Maly Jr. will be pleased at the turn of things, atmospherically speaking—Mrs. Maly, you see, is having a coffee at her home next Wednesday morning for the women of the Church of the Holy Trinity, Episcopal—for those who bring bundles, that is—No bundle—no coffee. And here is how the whole thing started.

Mrs. Donald Bull who, with her young son, is residing in Lincoln while Capt. Bull is on duty in Korea, received a letter from the captain who said that his regiment was sponsoring an Operation Christmas for the children in war-torn Korea. Mrs. Bull told some of her friends in the church about it—and the ball began rolling. The women of Holy Trinity are collecting clothing, toys, and anything that might bring a little gladness to the hearts of the Korean children, and the bundles are to be taken to Mrs. Maly's home next Wednesday.

THE SMALL-FRY are getting in on the Operation Christmas project, too—Little Miss Pamela Hicks has a birthday next Monday and is having a party—

The guest list will include the members of Pamela's Brownie Troop who have been invited for refreshments—and to help pack boxes for overseas.

DISCOVERED some new neighbors in Lincoln—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Justice and their family, who arrived recently from Evanston, Ill., and are now residing at 4600 Bryan Circle.

The Justice family includes a son, Charles M. Jr., aged 11, and a daughter, Miss Julie Ann Justice who is a freshman at the University of Colorado where she is pledged to Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority.

But Miss Justice will be coming to Lincoln for the Nebraska - Colorado game, so we are told, and — from a Nebraska point, will be sitting on the wrong side of the stadium—

FROM WHAT we gather from here and there, the Homecoming week end is to be an exceedingly festive one by way of guests—We already mentioned several who will be in town for all of the activities—Just heard, for instance, that Mr. and Mrs. O'Hara Drummond of Des Moines, Ia., will be among the spectators at the game, and also will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George X. Smith.

On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Smith will entertain their guests at the Monday Night Club dinner dance.

WE ALSO learned that Mr. and Mrs. Thurston Phelps are to have house guests for the Homecoming week end—Mrs. Phelps's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Powell, will come from Norfolk, and from Denver are coming Mr. and Mrs. Garrett "Buzz" Fonda — Mr. Fonda, who is a cousin in cinema and stage star Henry Fonda, is a Sigma Alpha Epsilon at Nebraska.

FRIDAY brought an interesting experience to Mrs. E. J. Faulkner—She received her first telephone call from aboard ship—It was Mr. Faulkner telephoning from the USS Tarawa, off Norfolk, Va., to say that the ship was to have docked on Friday, but it was too stormy. However, Mr. Faulkner, who was invited on a Navy cruise, will join Mrs. Faulkner in Chicago on Sunday—They will be back home next Friday.

AND ALSO in Chicago next week will be Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Wilson who leave early next week. Mr. Wilson goes to attend a meeting of the Society For Crippled Children board.

CLIPPINGS

from Maison Lorenzo

Look at any lovely woman. One of the first features that you will notice about her is her hair. And, as you know, it takes a good basic hair cut to keep hair looking at its very best (especially if you take care of your own hair).

That's why Maison Lorenzo's staff is thoroughly trained in the art of hair cutting. Each is a professional who will shape your hair expertly in the style that you prefer. Whether you wear your hair long or short, curled or smooth, or in the new Italian brush cut, they are able to cut it in a flattering manner — one that will be easy for you to care for yourself.

They will also be happy to make suggestions for the proper care and management of your hair at home. And, if you like, they will offer suggestions for a becoming new style. Right now, when you want a hair style that will be smart for fall is the time to come in. We invite you to come in for a consultation at no extra cost. Haircuts start at 1.25. Phone 2-1211 for an appointment, or drop in the next time you're downtown at Maison Lorenzo, GOLD'S of Nebraska in Lincoln.

That Button-Up-Your-Overcoat Weather Is Here

WE REGRET it, but we must make the shuddering admission that the button-up-your-overcoat time is here—and we don't need to read all of the chummy little items the weather man offers in his forecasts to realize it. But then, we console ourselves with the thought that April is only five months away, and since time goes faster than a whisper in Washington—spring will be here before we know it.

SOMEHOW, though, mild weather and Operation Christmas don't go hand in hand—So doubtless Mrs. Stanley Maly Jr. will be pleased at the turn of things, atmospherically speaking—Mrs. Maly, you see, is having a coffee at her home next Wednesday morning for the women of the Church of the Holy Trinity, Episcopal—for those who bring bundles, that is—No bundle—no coffee. And here is how the whole thing started.

Mrs. Donald Bull who, with her young son, is residing in Lincoln while Capt. Bull is on duty in Korea, received a letter from the captain who said that his regiment was sponsoring an Operation Christmas for the children in war-torn Korea. Mrs. Bull told some of her friends in the church about it—and the ball began rolling. The women of Holy Trinity are collecting clothing, toys, and anything that might bring a little gladness to the hearts of the Korean children, and the bundles are to be taken to Mrs. Maly's home next Wednesday.

THE SMALL-FRY are getting in on the Operation Christmas project, too—Little Miss Pamela Hicks has a birthday next Monday and is having a party.

The guest list will include the members of Pamela's Brownie Troop who have been invited for refreshments—and to help pack boxes for overseas.

DISCOVERED some new neighbors in Lincoln—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Justice and their family, who arrived recently from Evanston, Ill. and are now residing at 4600 Bryan Circle.

The Justice family includes a son, Charles M. Jr., aged 11, and a daughter, Miss Julie Ann Justice who is a freshman at the University of Colorado where she is pledged to Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority.

But Miss Justice will be coming to Lincoln for the Nebraska—Colorado game, so we are told, and from Nebraska point, will be sitting on the wrong side of the stadium—

FROM WHAT we gather from here and there, the Homecoming week end is to be an exceedingly festive one by way of guests—We already mentioned several who will be in town for all of the activities—

Just heard, for instance, that Mr. and Mrs. O'Hara Drummond of Des Moines, Ia., will be among the spectators at the game, and also will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George X. Smith.

On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Smith will entertain

their guests at the Monday Night Club dinner dance.

WE ALSO learned that Mr. and Mrs. Thurston Phelps are to have house guests for the Homecoming week end—Mrs. Phelps's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Powell, will come from Norfolk, and from Denver are coming Mr. and Mrs. Garrett "Buzz" Fonda—Mr. Fonda, who is a cousin to cinema and stage star Henry Fonda, is a Sigma Alpha Epsilon at Nebraska.

FRIDAY brought an interesting experience to Mrs. E. J. Faulkner—She received her first telephone call from aboard ship—it was Mr. Faulkner telephoning from the USS Tarawa, off Norfolk, Va., to say that the ship was to have docked on Friday, but it was too stormy. However, Mr. Faulkner, who was invited on a Navy cruise, will join Mrs. Faulkner in Chicago on Sunday—They will be back home next Friday.

AND ALSO in Chicago next week will be Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Wilson who leave early next week. Mr. Wilson goes to attend a meeting of the Society For Crippled Children board.

JUST ABOUT the two happiest people in town today are Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Porter who returned home from Chicago on Friday—Mr. and Mrs. Porter brought with them a brand new son, Charles Sanford, who was born on Aug. 4—With their new son—and a new home, in which they hope to be settled at Christmas time, life is completely wonderful for the three Porters.

THURSDAY was going-home day for Mr. and Mrs. J. Leslie Grainger of Salinas, Calif., who had been spending the past few weeks in Lincoln—the guests of Mrs. Grainger's mother, Mrs. C. F. Ladd, and the Graingers' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Browne Jr.

AND WE LEARNED that Mr.

and Mrs. Robert L. Grainger and their two sons, Billy and Johnny, plan to leave Saturday evening for their home in Salinas, Calif. Better Technical Soil Assistance For Farmers Asked

Lincolnite Honored At SCS Meet

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—A need for greater co-ordination of technical soil conservation assistance to farmers and ranchers was voted Friday at the 8th annual convention of the Soil Conservation Society of America.

This co-ordination is being sought "because of the tremendous conservation job facing America," said H. Wayne Pritchard of Des Moines, Iowa, executive secretary.

"He emphasized the need for this service in view of the reorganization of the U.S. Department of Agriculture which effects the Soil Conservation Service."

Membership Rises
Saying that the society had gained 18 per cent in membership during the past year, Pritchard added that this indicated that "the people in this country know that conservation of our natural resources is basic."

Richard Y. Bailey, Spartansburg, S. C., regional agronomist for the southeastern section of the Soil Conservation Service, was elected president of the society. He succeeds Dr. H. H. Bennett, former head of the Soil Conservation Service.

Hastings Firm Will Get Gas From Ohio Co.

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP)—A contract is being readied under which natural gas from Ohio Oil Company wells in this area will be sold to the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co., Inc., of Hastings, Neb., it was announced Friday.

The significant development was announced jointly by J. S. Leonard, district manager of Ohio's Sidney office, and S. D. Whitman, president of Kansas-Nebraska. They said the contract for the sale of Ohio's gas in the West Sidney field is now being put in final form.

Kansas-Nebraska already is taking gas from the Big Springs field in Deuel County, Neb., as well as from fields in Logan County, Colo.

Additional Wells Sought
Ohio now has 10 gas wells in the west Sidney field and will drill additional wells as soon as gas pooling agreements are secured. This additional drilling is necessary to determine the size of the reserve. Wells brought in have been capped as they were discovered until an outlet for the gas should be found.

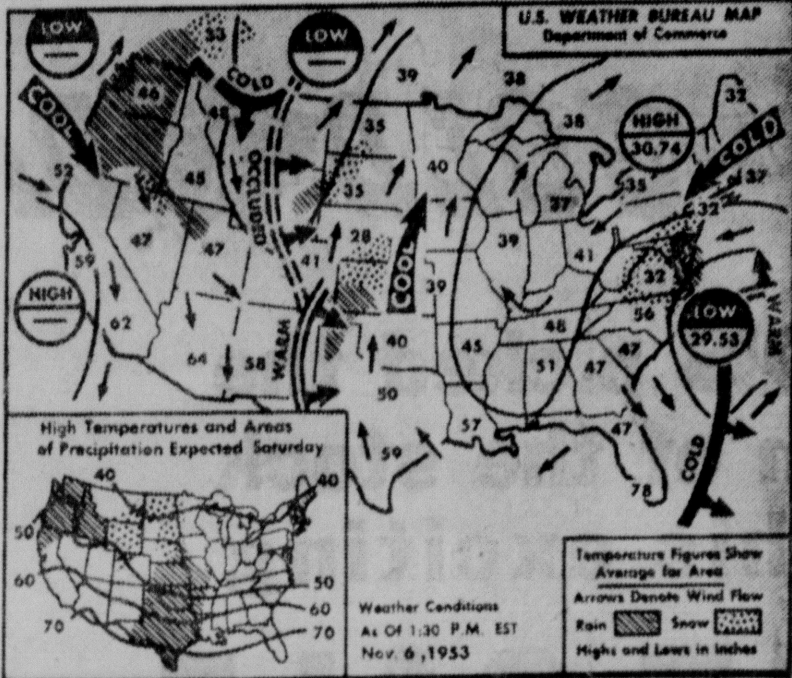

Ohio now is making preliminary plans to construct a gathering system and facilities to process the wet gas from west Sidney so as to make it marketable as dry gas. Final design, however, must be based upon the size of the reserve, yet to be determined.

Additional pooling agreements and drilling may establish a reserve big enough to justify building an extraction and dehydration plant and system similar to Ohio's Huntzman plant currently in operation.

When arrangements are completed to process the wet gas, Kansas-Nebraska will build the necessary pipeline to take delivery of the dry gas.

Casper Kidnaping Is Admitted By Denny, Ex-Nebraska Inmate

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP)—An ex-convict who has admitted the gunpoint kidnaping of a Casper, Wyo., auto salesman, got to Casper by hitching a ride with Scotts Bluff County Sheriff Steve Warrick.

New Oil Find Reported In Cheyenne Co.

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP)—Disappointments by the Ohio Oil Co. in its wildcat ventures had ended Friday with the discovery of a new oil producing area in Cheyenne County.

To observers, Ohio's No. 1 Engelland on the Walter Engelland farm seven miles northeast of here appears to be one of the most significant oil finds of the year.

A spokesman for the firm said the Engelland should become a very substantial producer. Drill stem tests in the D sand recovered up to 3,150 feet of oil.

Meanwhile, the 15th well was being drilled on the prolific Clarence Dorman lease three miles northwest of Sidney. It is hoped the test will show oil and gas potentialities in an area distant from present production. It is a half mile northwest of the closest Dorman well.

If the well turns out to be a producer, it will help close the gap between the Dorman and Huntzman fields — two of the largest in Cheyenne County.

Pardon News 'Pretty Great' Say Lindquist

By The Associated Press

"I think that's pretty great," Ernest (Ole) Lindquist, former "forgotten man" of the Iowa Penitentiary, said Friday upon learning he had been pardoned for a boyhood crime in Idaho.

Without affirmative action by the Idaho State Pardon Board on his request for a pardon, Lindquist was threatened with deportation to his native Sweden under the McCarran Undesirable Alien Act.

"Now I want to apply for United States citizenship just as soon as I can," Lindquist, who works at an Omaha hospital with his wife, told the Associated Press.

Convicted in '08
Lindquist was convicted of an Idaho burglary in 1908, shortly after he came to the United States from Sweden. He served a year and was released.

Less than a year later, he was sentenced to life in Iowa for murdering a Carroll, Ia., policeman. He received no letters in the years following and became known as the prison's "forgotten man."

A widow, Mrs. Addie Jackson, became interested in his case, helped him to obtain release from prison and later married him. Last month the Iowa Pardon Board gave him a full pardon.

However, his boyhood Idaho burglary, committed before he was naturalized, made him an undesirable alien and threatened him with deportation.

R. W. Chamberlain, officer in charge of the Omaha Immigration and Naturalization Service office, said Friday that Lindquist will be given a hearing at which he can introduce the pardons into the record.

Chamberlain declined to predict what would result from the hearing or whether it would end the matter.

Better Technical Soil Assistance For Farmers Asked

Lincolnite Honored At SCS Meet

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—A need for greater co-ordination of technical soil conservation assistance to farmers and ranchers was voted Friday at the 8th annual convention of the Soil Conservation Society of America.

This co-ordination is being sought "because of the tremendous conservation job facing America," said H. Wayne Pritchard of Des Moines, Iowa, executive secretary.

He emphasized the need for this service in view of the reorganization of the U.S. Department of Agriculture which effects the Soil Conservation Service.

Membership Rises

Saying that the society had gained 18 per cent in membership during the past year, Pritchard added that this indicated that "the people in this country know that conservation of our natural resources is basic."

Richard Y. Bailey, Spartansburg, S.C., regional agronomist for the southeastern section for the Soil Conservation Service, was elected president of the society. He succeeds Dr. H. H. Bennett, former head of the Soil Conservation Service.

Hastings Firm Will Get Gas From Ohio Co.

Sidney, Neb. (AP)—A contract is being readied under which natural gas from Ohio Oil Company wells in this area will be sold to the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co., Inc., of Hastings, Neb., it was announced Friday.

The significant development was announced jointly by J. S. Leonard, district manager of Ohio's Sidney office, and S. D. Whitman, president of K and S-Nebraska. They said the contract for the sale of Ohio's gas in the West Sidney field is now being put in final form.

Kansas-Nebraska already is taking gas from the Big Springs field in Deuel County, Neb., as well as from fields in Logan County, Colo.

Additional Wells Sought

Ohio now has 10 gas wells in the west Sidney field and will drill additional wells as soon as gas pooling agreements are secured. This additional drilling is necessary to determine the size of the reserve. Wells brought in have been capped as they were discovered until an outlet for the gas should be found.

When arrangements are completed to process the wet gas, Kansas-Nebraska will build the necessary pipeline to take delivery of the dry gas.

Casper Kidnaping Is Admitted By Denny, Ex-Nebraska Inmate

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP)—An ex-convict who has admitted the gunpoint kidnaping of a Casper, Wyo., auto salesman, got to Casper by hitching a ride with Scotts Bluff County Sheriff Steve Warrick.

FBI agents at Denver announced the arrest of Pinedale, Wyo., of Edward William Denny, 28, who told agents he had been released only a few days ago from the Nebraska penitentiary at Lincoln.

1,200 Mile Ride

James B. Foster, special agent in charge of the Denver FBI office, said Denny admitted taking Earl Schrantz on a 1,200 mile forced ride over a three state area.

Schrantz was released Tuesday night on a highway five miles from Cody, Wyo., his hands and feet still bound.

The FBI said Denny gave no explanation of why he took Schrantz but, according to Foster, Denny's initial object was to steal a car. Schrantz's 1953 model car was found at Pinedale.

Recognized Denny

Sheriff Warrick told reporters Thursday night that he had picked up Denny near Mitchell, Neb. The sheriff, who was en route to Idaho to get a prisoner, said he recognized Denny who has had many dealings with officials here.

Denny told Warrick he was headed for Casper where he hoped to get a job on a ranch and go straight, adding: "Three times in the pen is enough."

Denny Discharged From Prison Oct. 30

At the Nebraska penitentiary, Warden Herbert Hann's office said that Denny had served his term and was discharged on Oct. 30.

According to records here, Denny had served time in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., for transporting a stolen car across a state line. At the conclusion of his sentence, he was returned to Scottsbluff on charges of auto theft and was placed on bench parole for five years.

He violated the bench parole by driving while intoxicated and was sentenced to one year in the state penitentiary on auto theft and violation of a bench parole. Denny was sentenced to the Utah penitentiary for armed robbery in 1941, the records here show.

Douglas Tax Freeze Awaits Court Decision

OMAHA (AP)—Treasurer Carl W. Jensen Friday ordered the impoundment of all 1953-54 tax collections until two lawsuits challenging Douglas County property valuations are acted upon by the Nebraska Supreme Court.

No money from the new taxes will be distributed to governmental subdivisions such as cities and schools.

Normally, tax money is distributed as it comes in.

The freeze, effective immediately, will apply to personal property, real estate and automobile taxes.

Jensen said he took the action on the advice of attorneys for his bonding company and County Attorney Eugene Fitzgerald.

Supreme Court decisions on the cases are expected in January, sources at the county attorney's office here said. Impoundment that long would tie up about 15 million dollars, it is estimated.

Omaha school board Secretary Roy Neff said the action "will put us in a hole." He said schools will probably have to borrow from a bond redemption fund to meet operating expenses.

City Comptroller Franklin E. Dinges said "we'll be all right until next year," and Mayor Glenn Cunningham declared: "If it extends into 1954 it would stop the wheels."

School Vault Burglarized; $500 Missing

AINSWORTH, Neb. (AP)—Burglars chiseled a hole through a wall of the Ainsworth School building from a vault at the school building.

The money belonged to the student activity fund and hot lunch program.

County Attorney William C. Smith said the burglars have not been caught or identified. He speculated they were persons familiar with the layout.

The burglary was not discovered until late Friday forenoon.

Entered Via Window

Burglars entered the downstairs 2nd grade room through a window, jimmied open a door to get into a hall and upstairs. A bar again was used on the door to the superintendent's office.

The vault and store room are side by side just off the superintendent's office. Instead of trying to enter the vault via the door, the burglars entered the store room and knocked out a hole in the wall into the vault.

The vault contained about $600 but part of the sum was in checks, left behind.

'U.S. Preparing War'—Vishinsky

Kremlin Goes Back To Its Tough Talk

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky charged bitterly Friday that the United States bases its foreign policy "on the number and quality of its battalions." He said the United States is preparing for a new war and the West expects to win it by using the most dangerous weapons of mass destruction.

The first deputy foreign minister of the Soviet Union, in a return to the Stalin era language, lashed at American and Allied policies as the U.N. Assembly's Political Committee began debate on the disarmament issue.

Vishinsky's strong words were in line with fiery statements in Moscow at celebrations of the 36th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution. They were in sharp contrast to the often milder tone he took after Prime Minister Stalin died. U. N. delegates speculated this meant the Kremlin has gone back to its old-time tough talk.

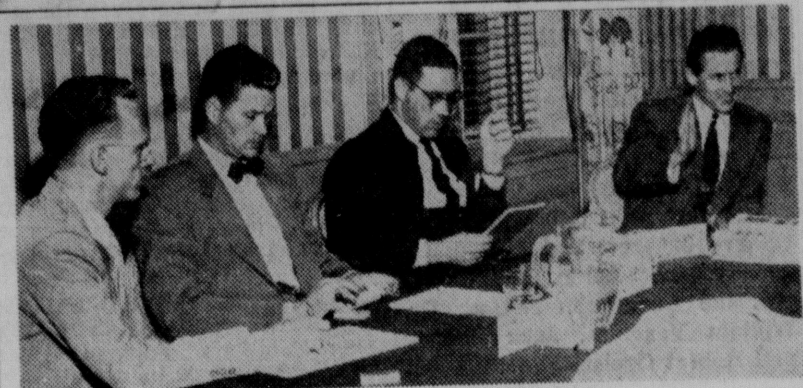

Vishinsky called on the U.N. Disarmament Commission to work out proposals for the reduction of armaments and armed forces, to prohibit the atomic weapon unconditionally and to institute an international control organ. He said this must be done in line with the fundamental task of fostering international security. He declared this task calls for cessation of the armaments race, the reduction of armaments and the liquidation of military bases in foreign territories.

Often Rejected

In short, he advanced once more the Stalinist program of peace which so often has been rejected by the West. Delegates indicated after the meeting that they were somewhat disillusioned and that, as in the past, the Soviet program would be batted down.

British Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd told the committee that the Russians were not interested in real negotiations. He said they do not take part in international conferences unless they can use them for propaganda and declared this attitude is "cynical, discouraging and indeed exasperating."

Lloyd introduced a resolution sponsored by 14 countries calling on the Disarmament Commission to resume work. The 14 are: Brazil, Canada, Chile, China, Colombia, Denmark, France, Greece, Lebanon, New Zealand, Pakistan, Turkey, Britain and the United States. These include all members of the Disarmament Commission except the Soviet Union, plus the three countries

'Jaycees Provide Young Men Chance To Get Leadership Training'—Stewart

Membership in the Junior Chamber of Commerce furnishes young men with the opportunity to receive leadership training while they are still relatively new in their professions, Harry Stewart said at the Seven-State Jaycee Institute dinner Friday night.

Stewart, national Jaycee treasurer from Raleigh, N. C., spoke at the first evening session of the three-day convention being held in Lincoln. Members learn a great many things which are invaluable to the businesses in which they are associated, he said. The Jaycees outstanding community contribution, he said, is their leading role in health, recreation and education programs. Members, he said, belong to the age group which has children that will benefit most from these programs.

which will join the commission Jan. 1.

Vishinsky said in the debate that the 14-power resolution was not acceptable. He said it still contains the principle of setting up atomic controls by stages and emphasized that the Russians opposed such a procedure.

The West has charged that the Russians would not obey a U. N. order banning atomic and hydrogen bombs. Vishinsky scoffed at that Friday, saying: "I am ready to guarantee that we not only will not produce atomic weapons, we will not spend a thousandth of a millionth of a ruble on such production."

Junior Chamber representatives from seven states opened their convention with three panel discussions, including one on the opportunities and importance of spreading Americanism.

Panel moderator Orvin Fjare of Big Timber, Mont., led off the Americanism discussion with the statement that the Americanism committee performs one of the most important jobs in the Junior Chamber of Commerce organization.

"We do not mean," said Fjare, "to make Democrats or Republicans out of everyone. We must constantly strive to develop men who can stand up and speak the truth. Americanism as we know it."

Two other forums were held on local officers' school and state officers' school. Registration on opening day approached the 300 mark with the final figure expected to go beyond 650. The convention will adjourn Sunday afternoon.

College View, that enthusiastic football colony on the southeast side of town, Friday night celebrated Homecoming Night amid the snow of View Field as its ball club completed a pretty good season with a 20 point shut-out of winless Ashland.

The modern Viewmen and an equally raucous band of grads shook off the cold and sudden snow to honor this year's royalty, King Bill Hatcher, and Queen Ruth Oosting in halftime ceremonies.

Strong defensive charging by the entire View line checked all threats engendered by the Bluejays, a young team which lacks experience to blend with its excellent spirit.

Coach Tom Gillaspie's boys were roving fast up front at all times as they strained for a shut out in the final appearance of four seniors.

Mike Martin, 237-pound tackle who appeared on the View Field for the last time, ripped the Ashland line for huge yardage all night. His bruising plunges through center on hand-offs from Larry Epp accounted for important midfield yards and gave the winners their second touchdown, a four-yard buck in the second period.

Mighty Mike pounded across standing up and nearly ran through the wire fence 10 yards beyond the nearest Bluejay who lay sprawled behind him.

Epp consistently handled the ball well on the conventional hand-off play to Martin, the deep man in Gillaspie's single-wing attack. His faking on this play also was good. In the first quarter he feinted the ball to the tailback and bootlegged around right end for seven yards and the first score.

Glenn Hoy booted the extra point as he did following the second score.

The first View drive covered 33 yards. The second went 31 and the final 41.

It was Epp's passing to Senior Bill Hatcher which boosted the score to 20 in the third period. The versatile back faded rather deep, threw a long ball to the King on the Ashland 25 and threw him the touchdown pass a moment later from the six.

Bowing out besides Martin and Hatcher were Center Clinton Webb and Back Bob Moffitt, a runner who went through the line well in the last half. Marvin Hoy, injured in a practice this week, missed the game, his last.

For Gillaspie, the blond coach who received cheerful "nice goings" from kids all over the field after the game, this was the finish of a sixth year at College View.

Doane Winner Over Chadron

Lincoln Star Special

CRETE—Doane's Don Crowder grabbed the opening kickoff by Chadron State here Friday night and ran it back 80 yards for the first touchdown in a game that Doane went on to win, 30-0.

Doane scored twice more in the first period, with Crowder going over again from three yards out to cap a 42-yard drive and Jim Griffin rambling 65 yards on a punt run-back.

Bud Jasnoch scored for Doane in the second from two yards out after Doane recovered a Chadron fumble on the Chadron 13.

The safety added two points to Doane's score with 15 seconds left in the game when the Chadron center made a bad pass and the ball went through the end zone.

club was trying desperately to get a rally started.

Northeast played even ball with Sioux City the first half, capitalizing on two recovered fumbles, but at intermission the score stood at 7-6 in favor of the visitors.

The Rockets kicked off and the Raiders took the ball 60 yards to score in 14 plays in the first quarter.

Buddy Wegher paced the drive, carrying the ball nine times. However, Jerry Lyman took the ball over for the score. Wegher's best effort was a 20-yard sprint on the first running play from scrimmage in the game. The Raiders picked up four first downs in the march. Bob Reysnders plunged for the extra-point.

The Rockets took the ball on the kickoff and with Fry making consistent gains moved down to the 31, only to lose the ball on downs. However, the Northeast hopes received a boost when the alert Rocket line pounced on a Raider fumble on the next play.

On a reverse off the single-wing, Tom Pavey caught the Raider weak side flat footed and moved the ball to the 20 for a first down. Fry picked up nine yards through the line. Dick Beachell smashed and piled his way to the three, and Fry moved the ball to the one as the quarter ended.

Fry moved off tackle for the score on the first play of the second quarter. John Rohrig's kick for point faded.

Sioux City took the ball on the kickoff to start the second half. But Auburn, alternating two teams of equal strength, at intervals of eight and seven minutes, overran a tiring Hurricane club for two touchdowns and a field goal in the early part of the final period.

A field goal by Joe Davis broke the four plays after the last quarter began and Bobby Duke ran three yards for the decisive touchdown after Frank D'Agostino had recovered a fumble on the Miami 16.

BENSON FIELD, Omaha — Lincoln Cathedral's scrappy Bluebirds gave highly favored Omaha Cathedral's Redbirds all they wanted as the Omahans took a 32-21 victory in the season finale here Friday night.

The Bluebirds were still in the ball game until Cardinal Back Jim Glass returned a kick-off 80 yards for a touchdown in the fourth quarter. That took the wind out of the Bluebirds' sails.

Vince Aldrich's eleven scored quickly as Stan Peters tallied the first of his three touchdowns on a one-yard smash over Center Jim Zimmer with little more than three minutes gone.

Fullback Clancy Woolman ran 45 yards to the one-yard line and paved the way for the touchdown.

Peters scored twice in the hectic final quarter. One was on a five-yard smash over the middle after Quarterback Bill Frappia had passed 15 yards to Schneider, putting the Bluebirds in scoring position.

Peters' other last-period TD was on a 30-yard jaunt around right end. A key block by Tackle Gary Barrett sprung him loose.

Frappia passed for all three extra points.

Omaha scoring was well divided. In addition to Glass's 80-yard kick-off return, other Cardinal touchdowns were scored by:

Halfback Jerry Schlauman in the first quarter on a 45-yard end run.

John Bartek in the first quarter on a five-yard slant off tackle.

End Dick Perry, who picked up a fumbled punt and an 23 yards to score in the third quarter.

Back Joe Wolf on a left-end sweep from the two.

The Aldrichmen relied on passing but couldn't make the aerial attack click consistently enough to offset Omaha's defense.

Some Bluebird seniors playing their last game sparked the Lincoln line. Guard Dean Witulski and Tackle John Olivetti were especially rugged in the forward wall, along with junior Tackle Mike Cowan.

Lincoln Cathedral SCORING—Schneider 2 (passes), Frappia, Bartek, Perry, Wolf, Glass, Schlauman, Bartek, Frappia, PAT: Campos (plunge), Serre (placement).

Lincoln High football fans had few happy moments Friday night, the bleakest Friday night the LHS Oval has seen in many long years.

It was windy, snowing and bitter cold. The Oval was crowded to capacity and some fans had to stand. And then there was the matter of the 40-0 beating Grand Island laid on the Links.

The only bright spots were:

1. A sparkling halftime band show featuring a simulated bullfight.

2. The introduction of a sophomore band.

3. In the game, the hard running of Lincoln Backs Rog Krhounek, John Carter and Marty Perez.

That was about all Lincoln rooters had to cheer. But the more than 1,000 Grand Island fans who came by train and bus had more pleasant moments than a kid in a candy store.

The Third City throng thrilled to the way their powerful Islanders turned the heat on their traditional rival while Lincolinites watched in awe.

A quartet of Grand Island backs—Terry Trueblood, Darrell Pinkston, Clair Boroff and Mike Lee—had only fair success through the middle of the Lincoln line but when the fearsome foursome tried to end—oh, brother!

Pinkston is the real speedster of the group. Lee is a bowl'em-over runner and a fine blocker. Trueblood's quarterbacking coordinated the whole attack, which moved behind a hard-charging line.

But the real hotshot of the backfield was Boroff. He runs like a halfback until tackled. Then he plows like a fullback. He also punts and was a demon tackler during the short spells Lincoln had the ball.

Grand Island scored only five plays after the kick-off with Boroff skirting right end for nine yards and the TD. Blocks by Lee, End Ron Falldorf and Tackle Larry Westerbeck sprung him.

A 41-yard scamper around end by Boroff set up the touchdown. Pinkston ran left end untouched for the PAT, making it 7-0.

Lincoln was forced to punt after making one first down on the following series of plays and Lee came in to block Jack Folmer's boot.

GI recovered on the Lincoln 38. Lee was good for five yards on two tries through the middle.

Pinkston, capitalizing on an effective fake by Trueblood, then ran 35 yards around left end for the second touchdown.

Lincoln again splattered after the kick-off and Folmer punted. The Islanders took over on the 38 and Lee gained nine yards on a trap. Then, bang! Trueblood completed a pass to End Jerry Schroeder on the Lincoln 21 and Schroeder rammed the rest of the way unmoleted.

That made it 19-0 with 1:26 left in the quarter.

The fourth GI touchdown, which came in the second period, was another quickie.

GI took over on the Lincoln 25 after Boroff's 15-yard punt return. Then Lee picked up 10 yards. Then there was Pinkston scampering around left end again. This time the touchdown run was 15 yards and this time Pinkston repeated the play for the extra point.

Down 26-0, the Links generated a small spark late in the half when Norm Ford and Gary Smith combined to recover a fumble on Grand Island's 35.

A quick pass from Krhounek to Folmer and a 10-yard run around right end by Roger the Dodger carried Lincoln to the 16 as the half ended.

That was one of three times the Links had a close view of the goal. The others were in the second half.

In the third period Smith ran 21 yards with a recovered fumble to put the ball on GI's 22. The Grand Island line staved off the threat.

Late in the third quarter Lincoln marched from the 33 to the victor's five before a fumble stalled the drive.

While Lincoln was driving with short stabs in the last half the Islanders were content to wait for an opportunity, then score on quick thrusts.

One of those thrusts came with four minutes left in the third quarter. Pinkston, on the second play of a series, sneaked 74 yards around left end on a reverse play to score the fifth touchdown. Lee gave him a breakaway block.

The last GI touchdown was the result of a series of two plays also.

After the Islanders recovered a Lincoln fumble on their five and a penalty put the ball on the 20, Boroff swept right end for 71 yards to the Link nine.

Reserve Back Cliff Nelson, the first GI offensive substitute, skirted left end for the touchdown and wrapped it up.

Cyclones Seek To Break Husker Jinx

By NORRIS ANDERSON
Sports Editor, The Star

AMES, Ia.—Ever hear of a happy jinx?

That rare animal will ride the Nebraska bench here today at 2 o'clock as the Cornhuskers wage a Big Seven match with the Iowa State Cyclones before a Parent's Day audience of 12,000.

Perennially a healthy favorite over I-State, the Huskers usually find themselves fortunate to escape with the narrowest of victories here at Clyde Williams Field.

That's what makes the jinx a happy animal. Decisively outplayed the last three times here, Nebraska has somehow emerged the victor.

In 1947, the Huskers picked up only two first downs, yet came off a 14-7 winner when bad center passes cost the Cyclones two touchdowns.

Two years later, Iowa State was again the complete master in every phase except the final score as Harry Meginnis squirmed 70 yards over a muddy turf to give the Huskers a 7-0 win. It took four touchdowns in the final 13 minutes for the Huskers to eke by, 34-27, in 1951.

Ignoring the law of averages, the oddsmakers have ruled the Huskers a seven-point favorite today.

"This is the biggest mistake of the season," snorts Coach Bill

Glassford, who fully realizes that his Huskers perform best in the role of the underdog.

"We can win this one!" counters what we did to Missouri. "Look what we did to Missouri."

Nebraska was being ungenerally whaled, 23-7, by Missouri. Iowa State was upsetting the Tigers, 14-7. By this common denominator the Husker margin of favoritism looks a bit silly.

Other comparisons only add to the confusion. Nebraska was blasted, 27-0, by Kansas State, which whipped the Cyclones by a mere 20-12. While

College View, that enthusiastic football colony on the southeast side of town, Friday night celebrated Homecoming Night amid the snow of View Field as its ball club completed a pretty good season with a 20 point shut-out of winless Ashland.

The modern Viewmen and an equally raucous band of grads shook off the cold and sudden snow to honor this year's royalty, King Bill Hatcher and Queen Ruth Oosting in halftime ceremonies.

Strong defensive charging by the entire View line checked all threats engendered by the Bluejays, a young team which lacks experience to blend with its excellent spirit.

Coach Tom Gillaspie's boys were roving fast up front at all times as they strained for a shut out in the final appearance of four seniors.

Mike Martin, 237-pound tackle who appeared on the View Field for the last time, ripped the Ashland line for huge yardage all night. His bruising plunges through center on hand-offs from Larry Epp accounted for important midfield yards and gave the winners their second touchdown, a four-yard buck in the second period.

Mighty Mike pounded across standing up and nearly ran through the wire fence 10 yards beyond the nearest Bluejay who lay sprawled behind him.

Epp consistently handled the ball well on the conventional hand-off play to Martin, the deep man in Gillaspie's single-wing attack. His faking on this play also was good. In the first quarter he faked the ball to the tailback and bootlegged around right end for seven yards and the first score.

Glenn Hoy booted the extra point as he did following the second score.

The first View drive covered 53 yards. The second went 31 and the final 41.

It was Epp's passing to Senior Bill Hatcher which boosted the score to 20 in the third period. The versatile back faded rather deep, threw a long ball to the King on the Ashland 25 and threw him the touchdown pass a moment later from the six.

Bowing out besides Martin and Hatcher were Center Clinton Webb and Back Bob Moffitt, a runner who went through the line well in the last half. Marvin Hoy, injured in a practice this week, missed the game, his last.

For Gillaspie, the blond coach who received cheerful "nice goings" from kids all over the field after the game, this was the finish of a sixth year at College View.

Doane Winner Over Chadron

Lincoln Star Special

CRETE—Doane's Don Crowder grabbed the opening kickoff by Chadron State here Friday night and ran it back 80 yards for the first touchdown in a game that Doane went on to win, 30-0.

Doane scored twice more in the first period, with Crowder going over again from three yards out to cap a 42-yard drive and Jim Griffin rambling 65 yards on a punt run-back.

Eud Jasnock scored for Doane in the second from two yards out after Doane recovered a Chadron fumble on the Chadron 13.

The safety added two points to Doane's score with 15 seconds left in the game when the Chadron center made a bad pass and the ball went through the end zone.

The Northeast running attack sputtered, stalled, then halted in the second half Friday night at O. N. Magee stadium and Sioux City East's Raiders powered their way to a 14-6 victory.

Northeast showed flashes of power, but the Rockets couldn't match the all-around offensive strength that the Raiders displayed.

The breaks of the game were about even. Fumbles and penalties that hurt Sioux City were balanced by Northeast passes that were intercepted. Alert Raider defenders snaggled four Rocket passes, three of them in the last half when the Lincoln club was trying desperately to get a rally started.

Northeast played even ball with Sioux City the first half, capitalizing on two recovered fumbles, but at intermission the score stood at 7-6 in favor of the visitors.

The Rockets kicked off and the Raiders took the ball 60 yards to score in 14 plays in the first quarter.

Buddy Wegher paced the drive, carrying the ball nine times. However, Jerry Lyman took the ball over for the score. Wegher's best effort was a 20-yard sprint on the first running play from scrimmage in the game. The Raiders picked up four first downs in the first half.

Bob Reynolds plunged for the extra-point.

The Rockets took the ball on the kickoff and with Fry making consistent gains moved down to the 31, only to lose the ball on downs. However, the Northeast hopes received a boost when the alert Rocket line pounced on a Raider fumble on the next play.

On a reverse off the single-wing, Tom Pavey caught the Raider weak side flat footed and moved the ball to the 20 for a first down. Fry picked up nine yards through the line. Dick Beachell smashed and piled his way to the three, and Fry moved the ball to the one as the quarter ended.

Fry moved off tackle for the score on the first play of the second quarter. John Rohrig's kick for point failed.

Sioux City took the ball on the kickoff to start the second half and moved down to the Rocket 23 only to lose the ball on downs. However, the Raiders recovered a Northeast fumble on the next play. Even then it appeared that the Rockets had the drive stalled on the 25, only to have Don Calvert hit Buddy Wegher on the 10 and Wegher carried the ball over.

Underrated Buck Leads Plainsmen Vs. Midland

A player described by Coach Roy Robertson as the most underrated player on the team will be directing the Nebraska Wesleyan attack against Midland College Friday night.

The player's name is Bill Buck, the lean, 175-pound sophomore from Marysville, Kan., who moved into the T-general's slot when the Plainsmen were struck with a rash of quarterback injuries three weeks ago.

"If I have a backfield handyman this year, the nomination has to go to Buck," the balding Plainsman mentor declares. "Buck has played every backfield position for me this year and has responded with a top performance at each job."

Buck started out as the number two fullback behind Sanford Nelson. When Cliff Kahl suffered an ankle injury with the season three weeks along, the talented Kansan became a halfback. Two weeks later Marvin Macy suffered a shoulder separation and Buck became the number two quarterback. A week later Rollie Wiegman was victim of a shoulder injury so Buck moved up to direct the team from the quarterback slot.

Actually quarterbacking was not new to Buck. He ran most of last season as a replacement to Marvin Macy. He appeared to lose confidence in himself following a freak play in which he was involved in the Peru

Four League Leaders Face Knockout Blows

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—A decisive

step toward clarifying this season's football bowl situation was taken Thursday by the Southern Conference special events committee.

Several other steps likely will be taken today by various bowl-minded teams.

Four of the five major conference leaders which can qualify automatically for lucrative New Year's Day games by winning titles face the kind of opposition that could knock them clear out of contention.

And for every one that might falter, there are a couple ready and willing to move in if they can whip equally strong rivals.

The Southern Conference move was a committee recommendation that the ban on post-season games should be lifted. A full conference meeting will be required to act on this proposal.

but it appears to be the first move toward clearing the way for West Virginia's participation in a bowl game.

West Virginia's status as one of four major teams still undefeated and untied isn't likely to be impaired by Virginia Tech

today and the Mountaineers already have been listed as likely recipients of bids from the Sugar

Bowl or Cotton Bowl if the conference grants permission.

The other unbeaten-untied

biggies are Notre Dame, the nation's No. 1 team and one which definitely isn't interested in bowl games; and Maryland and Baylor, which definitely are.

Illinois, tied but undefeated and ranked fourth in this week's Associated Press poll, also is a bowl candidate.

The "automatic" bowl set tings together the Big Ten and Pacific Coast champions in the

Rose Bowl, the Atlantic Coast and Big Seven champions in the Orange Bowl—with certain exceptions—and sends the Southwest Conference champion against an invited outsider in the Cotton Bowl. The Sugar Bowl

has no tieup, but usually aims for the Southeastern Conference champion.

As far as this week's games are concerned, here's what that means:

Illinois, the Big Ten leader, has to get past one of its oldest and most dangerous rivals,

Michigan, to stay on top. Stanford, unbeaten in the Pacific Coast conference though a two-time loser, takes on rugged

Southern California.

Michigan State and Ohio State

(both 3-1) fight it out for second in the Big Ten. UCLA (4-1 on the Coast) is idle with

Southern California (3-1-1)

threatening.

Oklahoma, winner over Kansas State last week, can virtually wrap up the Big Seven end of the Orange Bowl package by beating troublesome Missouri.

Concordia Winner

Over Sterling, 24-6

Lincoln Star Special

SEWARD—Concordia College

battled to a 24-6 win over Sterling, here Friday night in a game played during a steady

Freshman Gary Seever scored

all of Concordia's points, to run his total for the year to 73.

In the first quarter he went over five yards out to climax a

33-yard drive, and in the second

"Believe me, there's nothing worse than a ten-year-old nature lover!"

Thieves Steal $31.70 From Local Drive-In

William Grossman, owner-manager of the Patio Drive-In at 48th and Fremont, reported to police Friday the theft of $31.70 in coins from the establishment.

Grossman said a glass pane in the north entrance was punched in, and the door opened from the inside. He said that an unsuccessful attempt had been made by a screwdriver in prying off the molding before the window was broken.

Two cash drawers were ransacked, but yielded nothing but small change. Candy and cigarette machines were left untouched.

One Man And A Dog Were The Only Protection For First Government Mint

One man and one dog—bought and fed at government expense—were the only guards of the first U.S. mint, Lloyd B. Gettys, past member of a government assay commission, told a joint meeting of Lincoln and Omaha coin clubs Friday night at the YMCA.

"Today guards are all over the place, but the dogs are gone," the retired David City insurance man pointed out to more than 50 coin collectors at the meeting. Gettys was a member of the YMCA.

Hope Abandoned For Eight Miners Missing In Blast

BONANZA, Utah (AP)—Hope was abandoned Friday night that eight men missing in an explosion and fire in a 600-foot deep trench gilsonite mine would be found alive.

The men were working deep in the mine when it blew up Thursday morning, spewing charred and burning 12-foot lime timbers over a half-mile area.

Hope for some of the men revived briefly Thursday night when rescue workers thought they heard faint calls for help. But two gas-masked rescue parties returned into the steaming pit returned without finding anyone or hearing more than the occasional rumble of rocks as they broke loose from the walls.

"There's no chance those men are alive," said Sheriff Herb Snyder of Vernal.

"If they weren't killed by the blast or the fire, fumes from the burning gilsonite would have killed them," Snyder added.

Oto A. Wiesley, chairman of the Utah State Industrial Commission, said after an inspection that it may take months to recover the bodies of the eight victims.

Archbishop Bergan Returns From Europe

OMAHA (AP)—Archbishop Gerald T. Bergan had returned to Omaha Friday after completing a three-week tour of Europe, highlighted by an audience with the Pope.

He also participated in the dedication of the new 3½ million dollar North American College Building. Others in his party included Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York.

It was the Archbishop's first visit to Europe since 1946 "and I found things very much improved," he said.

Legislative Change Petitions Are Ready

Circulation of petitions calling for a constitutional amendment to substitute a partisan bicameral legislature for the present non-partisan unicameral will start as rapidly as the petitions can be mailed from his Kearney office, Dave Martin, GOP state chairman, said Friday as he filed copies of the proposal with the secretary of state.

To meet legal requirements, there was also filed an affidavit carrying the names of members of the committee seeking the change. It was also stated that no funds have been expended but subscriptions will be sought to finance the campaign.

To get the initiative measure on the ballot in the 1954 elections will require 59,572 signatures on the petitions. Should the campaign be successful, the change would be effective in the session of 1957.

Under the proposal 30 to 40 senators shall be elected to four year terms, half each two years, and be paid $20 per day not to exceed $1,500 at any regular session.

The house of from 80 to 100 members would be elected for two year terms and receive the same salary as senators. Maximum payments for special sessions would be $200.

Crops Loans Raise Bank Business

Loans on the Nebraska wheat crop and other commodity loans were credited with being largely responsible for an increase of $10,667,549 in loans made by the 289 state banks as of Sept. 30 compared with June 30 figures, the State Banking Department said Friday in releasing the report on condition of state banks.

Demand deposits in the banks increased $20,785,845 and the total deposits increased $21,210,631, notwithstanding a loss of $1,909,331 in deposits of municipalities. The total resources of the banks increased $21,981,694 to a total of $469,946,947. Holdings of government bonds were increased $8,324,589 to a $202,697,146 total. Syracuse Firm Low Bidder For Roca Dam

Peterson and Wilkie, Syracuse contracting firm, was winning bidder Friday for the construction of a 25,500 yard detention dam near Roca—the first federally financed element in the Salt Creek-Wahoo flood protection program.

The Peterson and Wilkie bid of $5,607.05 was low among 10 Nebraska bidders whose highest figure was $12,704.75. Jerry Camp, Beatrice, was second low with a bid of $6,829.85 and the Boeve Construction Co., Sterling, third with $6,844.15.

The dam will close a pilot watershed on the Jerry Kubik farm a mile and a half east and three-quarters of a mile south of Roca. It will stem the flood waters of a dry run not far from the main channel of Salt Creek.

Engineers said it would be effective up to a seven inch rainfall. The earth core dam will include a spillway and a concrete cradled trickle tube.

The bidding was conducted by the Administrative Services Division of the Regional SCS office and the project was instituted under the recent congressional 5 million appropriation for the six-project, five-state SCS regional water improvement program. Salt Creek-Wahoo allocation is $800,000.

SCS officials said the contract calls for a beginning of work within 10 days and sets the completion period at 90 working days.

Engineers said no more Salt Wahoo projects would be started until after Jan. 1, 1954.
